

11.06.04 „into Salzkammergut“ (ca. 270 km)

short tour description/route characteristics: The Salzkammergut with its multitude of lakes offers postcard motives in abundance. The focus of this tour is therefore clearly on the scenic attractions. The following are just a few examples of the many sights that cannot be included in this day tour: the front and rear Gosausee lakes (several hours' walk), which can be reached from Gosau, the Dachstein Caves, in particular the Giant Ice Cave and the Mamuth Cave on Lake Hallstatt, Lake Altaussee with its panoramic road, and the Schafberg near St. Wolfgang, which offers a wonderful panoramic view. Nevertheless, this round trip offers a variety of impressions that emphasize the beauty of the region. Especially the Hallstätter-See with the high Dachstein in the background, the Traunsee, which is surrounded by high flanks in the southern part, as well as the Postalmstraße should be mentioned here. The trail first leads through the Lammer Valley and Gosau to the Hallstätter-See. Hallstatt itself, closely pressed to the steep mountain flanks, is worth a visit. Via Bad Aussee and Bad Ischl the trail leads to the Traunsee - a wonderful spot! Halfway to Gmunden, a side road branches off to Steinbach am Attersee. Along the Mondsee it goes on to the Wolfgang-See. The idyllic Postalm Road branches off in Strobl. Via Golling, Bischofshofen and St. Johann the starting point of the tour is then reached.
